Hanover OKs bid to refurbish tennis courts

BY BOB DEMAREE

After being assured that there is enough funding to move forward with the project, Hanover Town Council on Tuesday accepted a $216,114 bid from Tennis Technology Inc. to refurbish tennis courts at Hanover Community Park.

The tennis court refurbishment is part of massive park improvements made possible when the town was awarded a $574,412 Land and Water Conservation Fund Grant through the Indiana Department of Natural Resources (DNR). The grant provides a 50% match — meaning the town is contributing $287,206 and the National Park Service is paying $287,206.

The Tennis Technology Inc. bid was the only one received for the tennis courts project. While it initially seemed to cost more than the town had allocated, board member Kenny Garrett said that's not actually the case.

Garrett noted that with a $30,000 contribution from Southwestern Jefferson County Schools for net posts, nets and fencing that actual town's portion of the cost will be $186,114. Additionally, Garrett said Tennis Technology agreed to slash $12,000 from its bid if the town removes and disposes of the existing fencing at the courts.

Other projects that are being funded by the grant include lighting for the baseball/softball fields and tennis courts, new storage/officials buildings for the ball fields and new walking trails. After giving an overview of known costs and expenses for the all the projects funded, Garrett said, "We have the money. We're in good shape right now."

Four of the five town council members were in support of awarding the contract to Tennis

BeeCorps the bomb for students

BY BOB DEMAREE

With hope that future youths may develop a greater love for the earth, Madison Consolidated High School's BeeCorps has been working with students at Anderson Elementary to plant and gardening this spring.

Last year, in BeeCorps first year, the club worked with Lydia Middleton Elementary students to plant trees in neighborhoods around the city. This year, BeeCorps has been working since early April with 38 Anderson Elementary students to teach them about flowers, gardening and bees.

The organization's BeeCorps name is related to bees and the role they play in the environment by supporting the growth of trees, flowers and other plants. "Doing the flowers and the garden helps provide pollinator ecosystems," said Jack Heckler, a junior and the leader of BeeCorps. "The bee

CHIP BINZER, LEAD SINGER OF THE SLICK RIVER ROCKETS

CHARLIE ROHLFING
CHARLIE'S BEAT

If you go to Off Broadway Taproom this Saturday you'll have the pleasure of seeing one of Madison's favorite local bands, the Slick River Rockets, performing on the famous unlighted Hydroplane Stage. But if not for a couple of whiny teens back in the 1980s, we might not have the opportunity.

"We came to town in 1980, when dad was working on the Marble Hill project," relates Chip Binzer, lead singer of the Rockets. "But then Marble Hill shut down and we were going to move on like most everybody did. But my sister and I threw a total fit to stay in Madison. And, thankfully, we did.

"When I was young I was more of an art person. Dad has this book of field drawings for work, and I'd draw illustrations on the back of the pages. But we were a music family, too, always singing the old vaudeville stuff in multi-part harmony in the car. Sweet Adaline and Gypsy Rose and Show Me the Way to Go Home. We had a whole set of songs we could perform as a family!

"But I was also a child of the times. I was into rock music and heavy metal. But if you know Slick River Rockets, you know it's all '50s music and rockabilly. How did that happen?

"Well, when I was about 30 years old, I saw this famous concert that Roy Orbison did. It was called the Black & White Night, to benefit the homeless, and it featured Bruce Springsteen and Emmylou and John Lee Hooker and a bunch more. I was hooked!

"About that same time Eric Phagan was working for me at the frame shop, and he was bringing in these CDs of Ray Charles and all this rockabilly stuff. That pretty much completed my education, you might say. In 2007, me and Eric and Roy Gentry

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Friday, May 19, the 139th day of 2023. There are 226 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On May 19, 1536, Anne Boleyn, the second wife of England's King Henry VIII, was beheaded after being convicted of adultery.

On this date:

In 1780, a mysterious darkness enveloped much of New England and part of Canada in the early afternoon.

In 1913, California Gov. Hiram Johnson signed the Webb-Hartley Law prohibiting "aliens ineligible to citizenship" from owning farm land, a measure targeting Asian immigrants, particularly Japanese.

In 1920, ten people were killed in a gun battle between coal miners, who were led by a local police chief, and a group of private security guards hired to evict them for joining a union in Matewan, a small "company town" in West Virginia.

In 1921, Congress passed, and President Warren G. Harding signed, the Emergency Quota Act, which established national quotas for immigrants.

In 1943, in his second wartime address to the U.S. Congress, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill pledged his country's full support in the fight against Japan; that evening, Churchill met with President Franklin D. Roosevelt at the White House, where the two leaders agreed on May 1, 1944 as the date for the D-Day invasion of France (the operation ended up being launched more than a month later).

In 1962, film star Marilyn Monroe sang "Happy Birthday to You" to President John F. Kennedy during a Democratic fundraiser at New York's Madison Square Garden.

In 1967, the Soviet Union ratified a treaty with the United States and Britain, banning nuclear and other weapons from outer space as well as celestial bodies such as the moon. (The treaty entered into force in October 1967.)

In 1993, the Clinton White House set off a political storm by abruptly firing the entire staff of its travel office; five of the seven staffers were later reinstated and assigned to other duties.

In 1994, former first lady Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis died in New York at age 64.

In 2003, WorldCom Inc. agreed to pay investors $500 million to settle civil fraud charges.

In 2020, a Trump administration policy of quickly expelling most migrants stopped along the border because of the COVID-19 pandemic was indefinitely extended.

Ten years ago: President Barack Obama, in a soaring commencement address on work, sacrifice and opportunity, told graduates of historically black Morehouse College in Atlanta to seize the power of their example as black men graduating from college and use it to improve people's lives.

Five years ago: Britain's Prince Harry wed American actress Meghan Markle in a service that reflected Harry's royal heritage and his bride's biracial roots, as well as their shared commitment to put a more diverse, modern face on the monarchy.

One year ago: President Joe Biden embarks on a six-day trip to South Korea and Japan aiming to build rapport with the two nations' leaders while also sending an unmistakable message to China: Russia's faltering invasion of Ukraine should give Beijing pause about its own saber-rattling in the Pacific. The nation's oldest civil rights organization said it will propose a sweeping plan meant to protect Black Americans from white supremacist violence, in response to a hate-fueled massacre that killed 10 Black people in Buffalo, New York.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Saturday, May 20, the 140th day of 2023. There are 225 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On May 20, 1956, the United States exploded the first airborne hydrogen bomb over Bikini Atoll in the Pacific.

On this date:

In 1862, President Abraham Lincoln signed the Homestead Act, which was intended to encourage settlements west of the Mississippi River by making federal land available for farming.

In 1916, the Saturday Evening Post published its first Norman Rockwell cover; the illustration shows a scowling boy dressed in his Sunday best, dutifully pushing a baby carriage past a couple of boys wearing baseball uniforms.

In 1927, Charles Lindbergh took off from Roosevelt Field on Long Island, New York, aboard the Spirit of St. Louis on his historic solo flight to France.

In 1932, Amelia Earhart took off from Newfoundland to become the first woman to fly solo across the Atlantic. (Because of weather and equipment problems, Earhart set down in Northern Ireland instead of her intended destination, France.)

In 1948, Chiang Kai-shek (chang ky-shehk) was inaugurated as the first president of the Republic of China (Taiwan).

In 1959, nearly 5,000 Japanese-Americans had their U.S. citizenships restored after choosing to renounce them during World War II.

In 1961, a white mob attacked a busload of Freedom Riders in Montgomery, Alabama, prompting the federal government to send in U.S. marshals to restore order.

In 1969, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces captured Ap Bia Mountain, referred to as "Hamburger Hill" by the Americans, following one of the bloodiest battles of the Vietnam War.

In 2009, in a rare, bipartisan defeat for President Barack Obama, the Senate voted overwhelmingly, 90-6, to keep the prison at Guantanamo Bay open for the foreseeable future and forbid the transfer of any detainees to facilities in the United States.

In 2015, four of the world's biggest banks — JPMorgan Chase, Citigroup's banking unit Citicorp, Barclays and the Royal Bank of Scotland — agreed to pay more than $5 billion in penalties and plead guilty to rigging the currency markets.

In 2020, President Donald Trump threatened to hold up federal funds for two election battleground states (Michigan and Nevada) that were making it easier to vote by mail during the pandemic.

Ten years ago: An EF5 tornado struck Moore, Oklahoma, killing at least 24 people and flattening 1,100 homes. Former general Thein Sein (thayn sayn) became the first president of Myanmar in 47 years to visit the White House, where President Barack Obama said he appreciated the Asian leader's efforts to lead the country in "a long and sometimes difficult" path toward democracy.

Five years ago: Venezuelan officials declared socialist leader Nicolas Maduro the easy winner of the country's presidential election; his leading challenger questioned the legitimacy of a vote marred by irregularities. Lava flowing from fissures on Kilauea, Hawaii, reached the Pacific Ocean, critically injuring one person.

One year ago: President Joe Biden opened a six-day trip to Asia by touring a South Korean computer chip factory that would be the model for a plant in Texas, holding it out as an illustration of how deeper ties with the Indo-Pacific could fuel technological innovation and foster vibrant democracies.

Suspects in custody in Clark County thefts

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A Madison man being sought by the Clark County Sheriff's Office in connection with a residential burglary in that county is now in custody, joining a Madison woman who was apprehended last week.

Last week, the Clark County Sheriff's Office asked for the public's help in locating Scotty "Jordan" Binion, of Cragmont Street, Madison, and Kayla Luellen, of Brooksburg Road, Madison, as suspects in several storage unit burglaries.

Binion was in custody and arraigned in Clark Circuit Court Monday. He pleaded not guilty to three counts of Burglary, a Level 5 felony, and one count of Theft of Property valued at between $750 and $50,000, a Level 6 felony. Bond was set at $10,000 cash.

Luellen was arraigned on Thursday, May 11, and pleaded not guilty to Burglary, a Level 5 felony, at her initial hearing. A public defender was appointed to represent her and bond was set at $10,000 cash.

A jury trial for both Binion and Luellen has been scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 26.

populations are going down, butterfly populations are going down. On a global scale, it's pretty catastrophic."

Heckler said BeeCorps provides elementary students a fun way to appreciate the environment, and consider ways to take better care of it while beautifying the community and providing an environment for pollinators.

While learning about gardening, BeeCorps helped Anderson students plant vegetables one week and make seed bombs another week. The seed bombs combine potting soil and flour to make a mud pie that is mixed with seeds from wild flowers and rolled into little balls that are left to dry.

"The idea of the seed bombs is that once you make them and dry them out, then you can just throw them wherever you want there to be flowers," said Heckler, who said wild flowers will then begin to grow at the "bomb" site.

"When we work in the garden and when we make the seed bombs, they have an active part in doing it, and they grow up with those memories and remember that when they were a kid, 'I helped plant a bunch of flowers or I started a garden,' " said Heckler. "A bunch of the kids have said it's inspired them to start a garden at their place."

The vegetables that were planted and are currently growing at Anderson Elementary include cucumbers, tomatoes, carrots, peas, green beans and more. Heckler said at the end of the school year, BeeCorps will give those plants to elementary students to take home and continue to grow at their homes.

He said the response has been enthusiastic from the elementary students. "These kids have been nothing but wonderful and nothing but interested in this," Heckler said. "When you think of the modern generation and how a lot of people see it, you're not seeing kids outside, you're not seeing kids working with gardens. We're doing this and kids are loving it."

Just as BeeCorps is helping the elementary students, Heckler said it's also been good for the eight BeeCorps team members who are learning how to be leaders. "We have a lot of help from the adults helping us."

He said Anderson Elementary assistant principal Kenton Mahoney and MCHS environment science teacher Tom Ferry, the BeeCorps faculty sponsor, have helped with he project "but most of the organizing, the planning, the teaching and getting things done has all been by us high schoolers."

It's also helping the BeeCorps members to engage in a greater way. "If we want to help protect the environment, how can we personally do that? And that's a bigger thing. While some the elementary students are getting interested in it, we are putting into action how to do that."

Heckler, who plans to pursue environmental studies and biochemistry after high school, said being part of BeeCorps "is one of best lessons, one of the biggest opportunities for growth that I have seen in my life. I'm grateful for this."

CHANGES

School Principal Dan Grill to the high school as assistant principal.

Roney's hiring required his resignation from the school board since he cannot be both MCS staff and serve on the school board. As a result, Roney's District 1 school board seat is now open and the school corporation is accepting applications through 4 p.m. on Tuesday, May 30, for his board replacement.

"I'm very excited. It was bittersweet. I really enjoyed my time on the board," Roney said.

"This was an opportunity that came up" with Yancey's departure for the position in Bedford, Indiana. "I thought it was the best choice for me and my family to at least put my name in and see what I can do with it."

Roney, a minority owner for Mad City CrossFit, has actually worked with youth in the high school weight room for the last 10 years. "I'm familiar with the school. I'm familiar with the kids," he said, adding that as former board member for the local Habitat for Humanity, he is also familiar with construction.

Yancey's last day with Madison Consolidated Schools will be June 30, before assuming his new role at North Lawrence on July 1. "I congratulate Jay. He was on our strategic plan facilities committee five years ago so he knows that plan very well," Yancey said.

Roney agreed that his experience on the facilities committee should help prepare him for his new job. "I'm familiar with scope of the projects, and what the vision has been, and what the community members on those committees have requested," he noted.

Roney was elected to Madison school board in the 2020 general election, serving nearly 2-1/2 years on the board. "I've really enjoyed my time with the school board. I think we've done some really great things. I'm really proud of the work we've done."

A native of York, Pennsylvania, Roney noted that "Madison is the only place I've ever lived more than four years. I've been here 18 years now. I've kind of embraced it. I love the community. It's my home."

Meanwhile, Mires said the opportunity to serve as assistant superintendent at Salem Community Schools is one she couldn't pass up. "When I saw the posting for the assistant superintendent with an emphasis on curriculum instruction and assessment, that was really attractive to me because that's really my passion," she said.

A native of Madison, Mires has been principal at Rykers' Ridge Elementary for four years beginning in 2019. Before that she was principal at Madison Junior High School for seven years beginning in 2012. She previously had overseen elementary curriculum duties at Madison Consolidated Schools for four years. Mires also worked for Prince of Peace Schools for 21 years — four years as principal at Pope John Elementary and 17 years as a classroom teacher.

Mires will continue in her current role as Rykers' Ridge principal through June 30 before moving on to Salem. She noted that leaving Rykers' Ridge was "not the plan, for sure" but being able to work full-time with curriculum was an opportunity she couldn't pass up. "I thought if I could do this full-time, that it would be great, and get some really good experience doing it, K-12."

Mires said she has loved being principal at Rykers' Ridge. "I'm going to miss them. It's been a really, really good experience working out there," she said.

Her work at Salem Salem Community Schools, won't require her to relocate there. "I'm not moving. We're staying here. I'm going to be commuting to Salem."

Grill actually had replaced Mires as principal of Madison Junior High School (MJHS) in 2019, after serving as Madison Consolidated High School (MCHS) assistant principal since 2015. In a letter to MJHS families, Grill said, "I have immensely enjoyed my time with your students at MJHS. The relationships I have developed with our incredible staff and amazingly talented students are something that I will forever cherish. When I arrived at the junior high four years ago, as a new principal, I knew I could make a difference in the lives of our students. As a parent, I am so grateful to personally witness how much our staff truly cares about and pours into each and every student we care for daily not only in our building but throughout our district."

Grill said the move back to the high school to again serve as assistant principal "was not an easy decision" but added, "I know it is where I am meant to be. When I left MCHS in 2019 for MJHS, I had a similar feeling in my heart. Knowing I was leaving one incredible team for another was exciting but at the same time, bittersweet. The same rings true today. I look forward to reconnecting with former students, crossing the ditch together with the class of 2027, and will be waiting to welcome our future Cubs at the door as they arrive as freshmen at the high school."

Madison Consolidated Schools superintendent Dr. Teresa Brown said interviews to fill the principal positions at Madison Junior High and Rykers' Ridge Elementary will begin next week.

Meanwhile, Travis Conover was hired as School Resource Officer (SRO) to bring Madison Consolidated Schools back to its previous three SRO staffing level after being down to just one officer earlier this year with Jacob McVey.

Now with three officers in place, the board voted to promote McVey, effective July 1, as Safety Coordinator/School Resource Officer. Earlier this month, Cody Teltow began serving as a SRO for MCS.

Conover, who will begin his duties as SRO effective Monday, has also served as a reserve deputy for the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department for 14 years and has been with Madison Fire Department 25 years and serves as battalion chief. He has worked full-time with the Indiana Department of Transportation for 17 years.

Brown said after Wednesday's meeting that the school corporation may consider hiring additional SROs — a subject that has been mentioned as a possibility at recent school board sessions since the corporation has a high school, junior high and four elementary campuses. "We may expand. We're considering options," she said.

Meanwhile, Shannon Allman, director of Human Resources, will now assume oversight of the business office, becoming director of Human Resources and Business. The changes in the business office also include the resignation of Tammy Boldery as payroll and accounting specialist.

Shaun Pennington was hired as the Grants and Compliance Specialist for the school corporation, assuming the role held by Darla Mahoney, who is retiring after 33 years with the school corporation. Pennington, a former elementary teacher in the Borden-Henryville School Corporation, will oversee the grant funding process for MCS, both in seeking grants and ensuring that requirements are followed.

Other personnel moves include the hiring of Karen Harwood as math teacher at MCHS, and the transitioning of Adam Dennis from junior high math teacher to high school math teacher.

Breaking the Debt Cycle Strategies for Older Adults to Manage and Reduce Debt

"Numerous options exist for a safe place to keep your money; the secret is finding the best return without any exposure to risk." Steve Dybwad

Layin' It On The Line

By Stephen Dybwad
Retirement Planning/ Wealth Management

As the Baby Boomer generation enters retirement, many face a troubling reality: rising debt. According to a study by the Employee Benefit Research Institute, the percentage of households headed by someone aged 75 or older with debt increased from 31.2% in 2007 to 38.5% in 2016. This trend is worrying as it can lead to financial instability and a lower quality of life in retirement. Therefore, it is crucial to take steps to curb rising debt for older adults.

One of the leading causes of rising debt for older adults is healthcare costs. As people age, they are more likely to develop health issues that require medical attention, and healthcare costs are rising. According to a report by the US Department of Health and Human Services, the average annual cost of healthcare for someone aged 65 or older is $11.3k. The cost of healthcare will likely increase as people live longer and require more medical attention.

Steps must be taken to reduce healthcare costs to curb the rising debt for older adults. One way to do this is to stay healthy. Eating a nutritious diet, exercising regularly, and avoiding unhealthy habits like smoking can help prevent chronic health conditions and reduce the need for medical care. Additionally, preventative services like vaccinations and screenings can catch health issues early when they are easier and cheaper to treat.

Another way to reduce healthcare costs is to use healthcare savings accounts. These accounts, which include Health Savings Accounts (HSAs) and Flexible Spending Accounts (FSAs), allow people to save money tax-free for medical expenses. By contributing to these accounts regularly, older adults can have a cushion of funds to cover medical costs, reducing the need to rely on credit cards or loans.

Another cause of rising debt for older adults is living expenses. As people age, they may need to modify their homes to make them more accessible and safe. Additionally, the cost of utilities and other necessities can increase over time. Older adults can take advantage of cost-saving measures like energy-efficient appliances, weatherization, and government assistance programs like the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) to reduce living expenses.

Another way to reduce living expenses is to downsize. An older adult living in a large home may be spending more money on maintenance and utilities than they need to. Moving to a smaller, more affordable home can reduce these costs, freeing up money to pay down debt.

In addition to minimizing expenses, increasing income is crucial. For older adults who can still work, working part-time or engaging in freelance work can provide extra income to help pay down debt. Additionally, taking advantage of government assistance programs like Social Security and Medicare can provide a stable source of income and reduce healthcare costs.

Finally, older adults need to seek help if they struggle with debt. Many non-profit organizations offer free financial counseling services to help people recover their finances. Additionally, debt consolidation programs can help people manage their debt by combining multiple payments into one monthly payment.

Rising debt for older adults is a worrying trend that can lead to financial instability and a lower quality of life in retirement. Older Americans must reduce healthcare costs, reduce living expenses, increase income, and seek help to solve the debt issue. By taking these steps, older adults can enjoy a more secure and stable retirement, free from the burden of debt.

- The percentage of Baby Boomers carrying debt has increased.
- Increasing debt erodes retirement savings and lowers quality of life.
- Healthcare costs are the leading debt expense for seniors.
- Home maintenance and other costs associated with living are eating away at budgets and savings.

and Brook Reindollar formed the Rockets. In 2009 we added a guitarist out of Cincy named Sean Dawkins.

"That was, what, 16 years ago? Hard to believe. We played a lot on the old Broadway Tavern patio back when that was going strong. And we've had some great players join the band through the years.

Anthony Ray Wright plays with us sometimes, and let me tell you, that guy knows every lick of those old songs. And lately, Bill Lancton has been adding his special guitar prowess. Bill's an official card-carrying Rocket now. He was in the band for the production of Grease at the high school just back in March.

"Occasionally Rick Bennett joins us on sax, and that changes the whole dynamic of the band. It lets us do a lot more 60s era songs that have that sax sound.

"Looking out to the future, I'd like to gig maybe a couple times a month, ideally. And there's talk of recording an album of our favorite cover songs. That could be fun. Bill and Brook and Rick are sticklers for the musical precision of the performance, which suits me fine. That lets me focus more on just the singing.

"I think Madison can count on having the Slick River Rocket Band around for a long time to come. We all love doing it, and there always seems to be a new and growing audience for the classic '50s stuff. And I guess I should thank mom and dad for staying in Madison all those years ago. It's been a great ride!"

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK

First, let's give a big "Music City" Shout Out to the Rivertown Grill. The owner Joe Breeck is putting live music in his place SIX nights a week, Wednesday through Sunday. Thanks Joe! You'll notice Saturday has NINE listings on the music calendar. That's spectacular for a town our size, but we locals need to get out and attend these shows and support the venues that are paying for all this music. Every one of those nine shows is free, without a cover charge. Two of the shows on Saturday are back on the calendar after a long winter break. Music is starting up again at the Farmer's Market at the Broadway Fountain Saturday morning. And the Evans family, who operate Sallie's Small Batch Ice Cream, are bringing music back to their little Sallie's Alley Stage on Second Street. Go check it out and enjoy a nice homemade ice cream!

Charlie Rohlfing is a retired advertising man and partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening.

Technology with only Benjamin Sommer opposing. He cited reservations about the funds that will be available to the town as the National Park Service reimburses for its portion as specific projects are completed. "The only problem I see with that is we're not getting back half of what we're putting out. We're only going to get back half of what was originally put into the DNR grant."

Sommer was also concerned about the timing of the reimbursements and whether there will be enough money to complete all of the other projects.

Garrett said he anticipates there will be enough funding for all the projects but if the town does fall short, it would be for one of the storage/officials buildings and the town would seek additional funding.

Sommer suggested "more discussion" before accepting Tennis Technology Inc.'s bid and noted the project could be delayed until other projects were underway and a better grasp of costs was achieved. "I'd have to see a little more down the road. I still think there are projected issues coming up with the rest of the DNR projects," Sommer said.

Garrett said there's an urgency in refurbishing the tennis courts due to their poor condition and the risk that poses to those who use the courts. "If you don't repair the tennis courts, somebody is going to get hurt," he said, adding that if one of the ball field buildings must be delayed that is a more manageable situation than a court that poses dangers to users. "If you think about it, this park has been here all these years, there's never been a backstop building before. If we have to wait until next year to get some funding from someone else to build that last backstop building, then so be it."

The park's tennis courts are also used by the Southwestern schools tennis teams — which is part of why the schools are contrubuting $30,000 to the project — and Garrett said he plans to approach the school board about developing an account to accumulate funding for ongoing repairs to the courts so that "if we need new nets or whatever, we've got that money." He said that way, if in 15 years there are more cracks and surface imperfections in the tennis courts, funds could possibly be available to cover those repairs.

As part of the new lighting at the park, the council approved $5,988.25 for three electrical pedestal boxes from Blackburn Electric, and $15,050.81 for electrical parts and panels from All-Phase Electric Supply. Also approved was $2,100 from Sedam Contracting for six loads of gravel for the trails at $350 per load.

The trails, which are a requirement for the DNR funding, will initially be gravel until the project is nearly complete at which time they will be paved with asphalt. The intent is to have the trails available for access during other work in the project with the final asphalt surface done last to prevent it being damaged during the other work.

In other business:

- Adopted the Development Ordinance Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan for Jefferson County that was previously approved in April by the Commissioners and slated for approval by all other incorporated communities in Jefferson County in order to maintain eligibility for federal grant funding.
- Rick Schnebelt, the town's building inspector and ordinance officer, said with the county recently passing a Unified with requirements on solar installations, there may be a need to consider doing the same for the Town of Hanover. "It's not that we have one but there are some rumors going around about putting a solar farm or farms in," and the town should be prepared if that were to occur. "We need to regulate coming in to put a solar farm."
- Hired Blake Rutherford for a custodian position at the town hall.

Rebels clinch 3rd-straight ORVC

SW goes 11-1 with 9 shutouts in league play

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Southwestern closed out its third-straight Ohio River Valley Conference baseball championship with two shutout wins this week.

The Rebels posted an 8-0 win over Milan at home on Monday and then beat Switzerland County 6-0 at home on Wednesday.

Jordan DeAtley struck out 10 while tossing a six-hit shutout to lead Southwestern over Milan on Monday. The senior walked just one batter but also hit a batter.

DeAtley was also 2-for-3 with a double, an RBI and two runs scored at the plate. Mason Lichlyter had a double, three RBIs and a run, Jamison Lewis had a hit, an RBI and two runs scored, Tanner Jacobs had a hit and an RBI and William Stockdale had a hit and scored two runs.

Jamison Lewis nearly equaled DeAtley's pitching performance in the win over Switzerland. Lewis threw a six-hit shutout and struck out nine without giving up a walk.

Stockdale had two doubles and scored two runs for the Rebels, Brady Cook had two hits, Adam Traylor had a hit, an RBI and a run scored, Jamison Lewis had a hit and scored a run, DeAtley had a hit, Jacobs had an RBI and a run scored, Austin Jenkins drove in a run and Lichlyter scored a run.

Roman Hite had a double for Switzerland while Kaleb Koons, Jackson Sparks, Kemper Kitts, Cooper Todd and Kobe Roark each had hits. Zayne Smith took the loss after allowing two earned runs on five hits in four and a third innings with four strikeouts and three walks.

On Monday, Switzerland banged out 10 hits and pulled away for an 8-4 win over Jac-Cen-Del on the road.

Sparks was 3-for-4 with two runs scored for the Pacers. Todd was 2-for-4 with two RBIs and two runs, Koons was 2-for-4 with a run, Mason Peelman had a double and two RBIs, Smith had a double, an RBI and a run scored, and Hite had a hit and scored a run.

Kitts picked up the win after allowing just one earned run on two hits in five innings with four strikeouts and a walk.

Southwestern, now 16-10 overall, finishes ORVC play with an 11-1 record — an impressive run through the conference in which the Rebels posted nine shutouts and outscored opponents 104-14 over 12 games with only one 9-4 loss to conference runner-up Rising Sun.

The Rebels close out the regular season at home against Brownstown on Saturday and open the Class 2A Sectional 45 Tournament at Austin next Thursday against Hauser.

Switzerland, now 7-11 overall and 5-7 in the ORVC, hosts Scottsburg on Monday in its final regular-season game and takes on Austin in the opening round of the Class 2A Sectional 45 Tournament at Austin next Thursday.

Madison wins 3 events, places 3rd as a team

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison won three events and had regional qualifiers in six others while placing third at the IHSAA Girls Track & Field Sectional at Madison on Tuesday.

The Cubs scored 104.5 points, just 26.5 behind Charlestown, which posted 131 points to claim its third-straight sectional crown. Jeffersonville ran second overall with 106 points, just 1.5 ahead of Madison.

"(We) had a great night in Sectionals. Falling short by just 26 points to champ Charlestown, closing a gap of 81 points from just one year ago," Madison coach Patrick Maschino said. "We are proud as a team, but not satisfied. Our time is coming."

Switzerland County finished fifth out of the 12 teams with 55 points, Southwestern was eighth with 20 and Shawe was 11th with seven points.

Senior Cadence Traylor led the charge for Madison, winning one event and qualifying for regional in two others.

Traylor won the 3200-meter run with a time of 12:05.66. She also placed third in the 1600 run in 5:32.58, and teamed with Haleigh Pyles, Ava Spencer and Audrey Miller to run third in the 3200 relay in 10:37.24.

Dellah Gibson won the high jump for the Cubs, coming in at 4 feet, 10 inches and besting Charlestown's Anneiah King on attempts. Libby Bronkella won the pole vault at 8 feet, 6 inches to round out Madison's winners.

Madison's Libby Bronkella lifts over the bar during her winning performance in the pole vault at the IHSAA Track & Field Sectional at Madison on Tuesday.

Several other Madison athletes punched their ticket to next week's regional by placing in the top three in their respective events. Hannah Combs was second in the pole vault at 7 feet, 6 inches, Eliza Burnette was second in the long jump at 15 feet, 8.25 inches, Gibson was third in the long jump at 15 feet, 7.5 inches, and Hannah Dart was second in the shot put at 33 feet, 7 inches.

Switzerland County athletes qualified for the regional in three events.

Gracie White finished second in the 800 run in 2:25.90 after leading virtually the entire way. Silver Creek's Isabella Scott caught her right at the end and won by less than two tenths of a second.

Claire Rogers finished second to Traylor in the 3200 run, coming in at 12:19.17. And the 1600 relay team of Dakota Richards, Brooklyn Flanders, White and Lauren Smith ran third in 4:29.35.

Southwestern and Shawe each had one regional qualifier — both in the same event. Southwestern's Tori Gammons placed second in the 400 dash in 1:04.20 and Shawe's Kristyna Vaskova was right behind her in 1:05.27 to take third.

Henry beats Trimble on walkoff in bottom of the 8th

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Trimble County took Henry County down to the wire before falling 3-2 in the championship game of the 31st District Softball Tournament at Henry County on Wednesday.

Henry County, which has won the last four 31st District championships, had beaten Trimble twice earlier in the season, but had all it could handle on Wednesday.

The Raiders scored a solo run in the third inning on a Jaelynn Holbrook RBI single and went up 2-0 thanks to an error in the fourth.

Henry County (16-9) got both runs back in the bottom of the fifth inning on back-to-back RBI singles.

The game remained tied 2-2 through the seventh inning.

The Raiders pushed the go-ahead run to third base in the eighth when Emma Ginn was intentionally walked and reached third on an error only to be stranded on that base.

Kennedy Brown followed with an infield single.

Aubrey Kirk then singled to right field to score Magruder with the game winner.

Holbrook's single was the only hit that Trimble managed off Henry ace Sophia Lay.

Lay struck out 10 batters but she also walked seven, including pitching around Raider star Emma Ginn, who has signed to play college softball at Northern Kentucky next year, four times.

Hannah Chilton and Kaylee Payton each scored runs.

Alyssa Ritchie suffered the loss for Trimble after giving up three earned runs on 10 hits in seven innings with two strikeouts and two walks.

Trimble had no problems with Owen County on Monday, blasting the Rebels 9-1 in the opening round.

Ginn hit her 15th home run of the season and was 2-for-2 with two RBIs and three runs scored.

Kaylee Payton was 2-for-4 with a triple, an RBI and two runs,

Jocie Stucker was 2-for-4 with a double and an RBI, Shelby Wright had a double and RBI,

Hannah Chilton had a hit and two RBIs, Holbrook had a hit, an RBI and a run scored, Alana Washington had a hit and scored a run, and Ritchie had a hit.

Ritchie got the win after giving up just one earned run on five hits in seven innings with eight strikeouts and three walks.

Despite the loss, Trimble, now 21-12 in the season, advances to the Eighth Region Tournament at Oldham County, which begins on Sunday. Pairings for the tournament will be released late this week.

Carroll stands little chance against Henry in semifinal loss

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Carroll County got the leadoff hitter on base with a hit and moved her to second before managing little else as the Panthers were swept out of the 31st District Softball Tournament with a 15-0 loss to top-seeded Henry County in New Castle on Monday.

Brinley Couch led off the top of the first inning with an infield single and promptly stole second only to be stranded when the Panther offense fell silent the rest of the inning and game.

Couch proved to be Carroll's only baserunner of the shortened game against Henry County pitcher Sophia Lay, who struck out five and did not walk a batter while completing the three-inning shutout.

While Carroll was struggling at the plate, Henry County was taking advantage of six errors to run the Panthers out of town.

Two errors and two hit by pitches, combined with two triples and a double, led to nine runs in the bottom of the first inning and Henry blowing the game out early. The Ladycats added three more runs in the second inning and three more in the third to end the game on the mercy rule.

Brooklyn Rose started in the circle for Carroll and lasted only two-thirds of an inning, allowing seven runs — just three earned — on two hits with four walks. Madi Groves worked the final two innings and gave up eight runs — three earned — on eight hits and a walk.

Lizzy Hansen went 3-for-4 with two triples, a double, three RBIs and three runs scored to lead Henry's offense.

Carroll County ends the season with an 8-15 record. Henry advanced to the 31st District Tournament championship and defeated Trimble County 3-2 in eight innings for its fourth-straight district title.

Eder started and took the loss, allowing just one earned run on five hits in two innings with a strikeout and three walks. Emily Laufer worked the final five innings and gave up two earned runs on nine hits with three strikeouts and three walks.

Madison, now 15-8 on the season, closes the regular season at home against Providence on Friday. The Cubs then face Charlestown in the opening round of the Class 3A Sectional 30 Tournament at Charlestown on Monday.

Today's Puzzle Solved

Elder man worries his daughter has 'quit' him

AMY DICKINSON ASK AMY

Dear Amy: As an older male I have seen fundamental changes in all types of relationships.

One change is a reduction in work ambition. Some people chose "quiet quitting" – to do as little as possible and still keep their job.

I see "quiet quitting" in relationships as well, and my daughter has chosen to quietly quit her relationship with me.

She seems happy to see me when we get together (rarely) and there is always a "love you" somewhere – but that's it.

Her mother and I got divorced 15 years ago when my kids were teenagers. They lived with her full time.

I know that my ex does her best to poison their relationship with me. My daughter and her husband never proactively contact me or offer to get together, even though I live nearby.

She even had her mother give her away at her wedding, even though she and her fiancé made sure to visit me to get a substantial check for half the wedding cost.

I have chosen to not only write her completely out of my will, but I will not leave any money to her new child. Instead, I will leave everything to my son.

I will have multiple millions of dollars in my estate and as I take my last breaths in life I will have a sense of pleasure knowing how shocked she and her husband will be when my will is read. – Dad in Name Only

Dear Dad: Your daughter seems happy to see you when she sees you. She tells you she loves you.

To me, this sounds like a relationship that has some strains at the seams, but also room for growth.

If your ex has poisoned your daughter toward you, then – as her father – can't you hold some compassion toward her? You seem to be blaming your daughter for a dynamic created by her mother's behavior during an extremely important and emotionally formative time in a teen's life.

You are obviously very hurt, but there are areas where you could work harder to try to knit together the shreds of this relationship.

A guest waffles on potlucks and raffles

AMY DICKINSON ASK AMY

Dear Amy: My girlfriend hosts birthday parties for her grandchildren every year, and on the invitation she asks that we bring a dish in exchange for a raffle ticket.

She has a raffle at the end of the party for something that is not of great value.

So, along with bringing a birthday present for her grandchild, I also bring a dish.

One time I did not bring food. She asked me where it was, and I said that I didn't have time to prepare something. She told me I wouldn't get a raffle ticket.

When she was pulling the raffle ticket for the winner of her door prize … she looked at me and said in front of everyone that I was not to be included in the raffle because I did not bring food.

I feel that if you are having a party, the guest should not have to bring a dish. She is now having a graduation party for her oldest grandchild and once again on the invitation she is telling guests to "bring a dish."

Am I wrong to assume that when you host a party you should also provide the food? – Annoyed with Parties

Dear Annoyed: Your friend hosts "potlucks" to celebrate these grandchild milestones and – from your account – she is completely transparent about the transactional nature of the events.

The fact that she has added a raffle component to these celebrations makes them seem less like personal parties and more like tournaments, but I must admit that I think it's a cool idea – especially since she is obviously expecting her guests to feed one another.

However, publicly calling someone out for not bringing a dish is just plain rude – unless the comment is delivered thoroughly in the spirit of communal good fun.

There is no one rule about how to host a gathering, but guests should always feel special, welcome, and valued – and not just for their three-bean salad.

That's where your friend has faltered.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Your passion for items of substance can be satisfied by a job that rewards your efforts with added bonuses. Your fuse could be shorter than usual so you may be tempted to lash out at someone who is abrasive or rude.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Don't allow transitory passions to blind you to your long-term allegiances. Existing relationships may seem dull or tiresome when you are engrossed in an exciting project. There could be some finger-pointing and criticism to manage.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Stick to what you know. You can discover ingenious ways to avoid discord and sidestep unpleasant scenes. You may yearn to hang out with fun and interesting acquaintances for a few hours to escape the ordinary and banal.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Avoid potential squabbles and feuds. If there is a heated argument, it might not be possible to turn on a fan and blow all smoke away. Focus your energy on improving your finances and put romance on the back-burner.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Restrain the urge to take drastic actions; never solve a short-term problem by creating a long-term problem. Exploring the unknown could put you in conflict with something or someone bigger than yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Dig up as many facts as possible. Increasing your knowledge can help you achieve your goals. You and a partner could be at odds over a simple issue that needs a practical solution; try viewing it from a systems perspective.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — It is in your best interests to make the best of a tough situation. Let someone enjoy additional freedoms without jeopardizing your mutual trust. Try not to make promises; it can be too easy to squabble about the terms later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Steer clear of misunderstandings and follow the rules that are set down. Errors of judgment and mistakes may come back to haunt you. Your patience could be tested by complicated family or group dynamics.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — If it could break, fix it. This is not the time to ignore anything broken or just not operating effectively. Invest in maintenance now to avoid future breakdowns at the most inopportune moments.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Bad news travels fast, but inaccuracies travel faster. Try not to take gossip or propaganda too seriously. People can be impressed by your industry but may be even more impressed by your persistence in the face of opposition.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Avoid quarrels and hostilities that put you in a precarious position if you can. This is a poor time to buy something on credit or take on extra financial responsibilities. That should not prevent you from buying a thoughtful gift.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Pressing responsibilities should be your top priority. You risk censure and disapproval if you cannot meet your important obligations. Sometimes all you need is some extra time or peace and quiet to finish a task.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — While you count to 10 to avoid a meltdown, someone may show up to referee. You may have some solid friends who stick by you through thick and thin. This is a poor time to ask for favors or to insist on an apology.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Take the rudder into your own hands. You may be happiest working independently so that you do not need to become involved in unpleasant disputes. You may be shocked if your ethics are seriously questioned.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Put new family projects on hold for now because common sense may be lacking. A negative tone in the atmosphere can jeopardize your prospects. Relax with an enjoyable book; wait for a better time to proceed with important plans.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Not much can prevent the truest friends from lending you a helping hand with a tough task. Take it slow if you must take physical risks or handle dangerous materials. This is not a good time to be careless.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Keep your feet on the ground and your head out of the clouds. You should remain realistic when a partner is determined to go ahead with uncertain plans. Avoid arguments and be supportive even if you have doubts.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Soak up the sun but try not to soak up any negative attitudes. Avoid voicing criticisms or being judgmental about friends or companions as words might be repeated. This is a very poor time to start anything new.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — It can be easy to give someone the wrong impression. Someone's vague reactions can be off-putting. Avoid making major investments and wait for better timing to amend your current banking habits or build a new budget.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Motivated companions might have admirable tenacity but could cause extra work for you. Fight off frustrations; you could be working with misunderstandings. You might feel a sense of responsibility for a controversy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You might be too optimistic about resolving conflicts. Your good intentions may be appreciated but might not be useful. Remain grounded and avoid flights of imagination that could lead you astray.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You may struggle to create something original. Rather than trying to express and show off your genius, you should be more practical. This is a good weekend to get your space organized or catch up on bills.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — You may be so deeply immersed in pet plans that you ignore signs of a growing rift. Be considerate of a romantic partner who may be envious of the time you spend elsewhere. Family problems may need your attention.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Apply the "nose to the grindstone" technique; you might be more ambitious and focused on accomplishment than usual. You may also be forced to work hard just to obtain proper credentials before you can go further.

Carroll gets more hits but falls 7-4 to Owen

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Carroll County out-hit top-seeded Owen County 6-4 but couldn't take advantage in a 7-4 loss in the championship game of the 31st District Baseball Tournament at Henry County on Wednesday.

Owen County used four walks and a hit batter to score six runs in the bottom of the second inning and take an early lead. The Rebels then spent the rest of the game trying to fend off the Panthers.

Carroll County got on the board with two runs in the fourth inning when Landon Isaacs drilled a two-run single. After the Rebels added a run in their half of the fourth, Carroll struck again for two more runs in the fifth when Braden Stephenson scored on a wild pitch and Coy Willhoite came home on a Dalten Wilson flyball.

Those runs cut the Owen lead to three and, despite putting runners on base in each of the final two innings, Carroll could get no closer.

Isaacs went 3-for-4 with a double and two RBIs for half of Carroll's hit total. Willhoite had a hit and scored two runs, Colton Dietz had a hit and a run, and Wilson had a hit and an RBI.

Stephenson started on the mound and took the loss after allowing four earned runs on two hits in an inning and a third with four walks and no strikeouts. Branon Battaglia worked the final four and two-thirds innings, allowing one earned run on two hits with a strikeout and three walks.

Carroll County's Branon Battaglia reaches to haul in a short blooper during the Panthers' 3-0 win over Henry County in the 31st District Tournament semifinals on Monday.

Carroll County, the No. 3 seed, advanced to the championship game with a 3-0 win over No. 2 seed Henry County in the semifinals on Monday.

Isaacs was fantastic on the mound, throwing six and two-thirds scoreless innings, allowing one hit while striking out seven and walking seven. Braden Stephenson got the final out of the game via a strikeout to pick up the save.

Carroll scored all of its runs in the first three innings. Isaacs led off the game with a single and later scored on an error. Willhoite then drove in Battaglia with an RBI single for a 2-0 lead after the first inning.

Carroll tacked on a third run in the third when Stephenson was hit by a pitch and later scored on a passed third strike.

Isaacs was 2-for-3 with a run scored while Battaglia was 2-for-4 with a run. Stephenson and Wilson added hits for the Panthers.

Carroll, now 16-15 on the season, still advances to the Eighth Region Tournament despite the loss. The regional will be held at Oldham County starting on Sunday. Pairings for the tournament will be released late this week.

Hilltoppers struggle in loss to Ripley

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Shawe was held to just three hits in a 5-2 loss at home to South Ripley in baseball on Wednesday.

Wyatt Nichter had a double and an RBI for the Hilltoppers while Philip Kahn had a single and an RBI, Eric Liu singled and scored a run and Jacob Hertz scored a run.

Nichter also suffered the loss on the hill after giving up four earned runs on eight hits in seven innings with nine strikeouts and no walks.

Shawe, now 10-11 overall and 3-9 in the Ohio River Valley Conference, wraps up the regular season with three games this week. The Hilltoppers traveled to Crothersville on Thursday in a make-up game from Tuesday, host Oldenburg on Friday and head to Christian Academy of Indiana on Saturday.

Shawe then opens the Class A Sectional 62 Tournament on its home field next Wednesday when it hosts Rising Sun.

ESPN: 'Pat McAfee Show' to join afternoon lineup

BY JOE REEDY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pat McAfee's show is moving to ESPN as part of a new multiyear deal announced Tuesday.

McAfee first joined ESPN as a college football analyst for its Thursday night games in 2019. He returned to the network last year and became part of the "College GameDay" crew as well as hosting some alternate presentations of ESPN games, including the CFP National Championship.

That will continue, but it is McAfee's show that has created the most buzz. It began on satellite radio in 2016 and picked up steam when it began streaming in 2019. The show has been mainly on YouTube the past three years, but will move to ESPN, the ESPN YouTube Channel and ESPN+ as part of the network's afternoon lineup beginning in the fall. It will likely air after "First Take" and start at 12 p.m. ET.

McAfee, a former pro bowler punter and kickoff specialist with the Indianapolis Colts from 2009-16 who began his broadcast career in Indianspolis, is exiting a four-year deal with FanDuel that the New York Post reported was worth $120 million.

The McAfee show is known for weekly appearances by Aaron Rodgers during the football season, including his announcement of his impending trade to the New York Jets, but also for a frequent use of profanity. McAfee said during ESPN's presentation to advertisers Tuesday that he wouldn't swear "nearly as much" but the substance and style of the show would not change despite its new home.

"We ain't changing a damn thing," McAfee said. "Every other word is good to go. ... We won't be doing that because it's the middle of the day, but everything else will be good."

ESPN also announced a documentary series on Serena Williams and four major matchups for the upcoming college football season. "In the Arena: Serena Williams" has started production and comes on heels of the 2021 "Man in the Arena: Tom Brady" series. The Brady series was 10 parts and focused on each of the seasons Brady took his team to the Super Bowl.

ESPN has not announced how many parts there will be for the Williams series. Williams won 23 singles titles in grand slam tournaments, but ESPN Chairman Jimmy Pitaro said the episodes won't be dictated by that.

Peacock will exclusively carry NFL playoff

BY JOE REEDY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

The NFL is taking another big step into streaming by putting one of its playoff games exclusively on a digital platform for the first time.

The league and NBCUniversal announced Monday that the Saturday night game on wild card weekend will be on the Peacock streaming service.

The Peacock exclusive game on Jan. 13 would start at 8:15 or 8:30 p.m. EST. The game will be broadcast on NBC stations in the markets of the two teams. It will also be available on mobile devices through the NFL+ package. It will be preceded by a late afternoon playoff game on NBC and Peacock that will kick off at 4:30 p.m. EST.

Subscription rates for Peacock start at $4.99 per month.

"We had our first season with Amazon (this past year) and I think that with the digital platforms, we're ready for live sports at scale. And the next step is to step into the postseason," said Hans Schroeder, NFL executive vice president and chief operating officer of NFL Media. "We like the plan that Peacock and NBC put together. In this case knowing we're going to have a bigger audience and focused on having the widest reach possible across each platform."

The league has made forays into streaming games for nearly a decade, but has gone all in over the past couple seasons. Amazon Prime Video became the exclusive home of "Thursday Night Football" last season while ESPN has had one international game per season on ESPN+ since 2021.

Under the NFL's 11-year contract with NBCUniversal that began this season, Peacock has an exclusive regular-season game. That will be on Dec. 23 when the Buffalo Bills face the Los Angeles Chargers in prime time. The Cincinnati Bengals vs. Pittsburgh Steelers matchup on NBC will precede that.

"We spent a lot of time with the NFL and had productive meetings about the proper positioning of that (Peacock) game," NBC Sports Chairman Pete Bevacqua said last week when the regular-season schedule was released. "We think that's going to be a great combination of using the power of NBC with that late-afternoon game and driving that audience to Peacock for the regular-season exclusive game."

The Saturday night wild-card game the past two seasons has drawn over 20 million viewers. Last season's game between the Jacksonville Jaguars and Chargers averaged 20.6 million while Buffalo and New England averaged 26.4 million.

Whether Peacock can match or get close to those numbers remains to be seen. Last season's 15-game Thursday night package on Prime Video averaged 9.58 million according to Nielsen and 11.3 million according to Amazon's first-party measurement. The most-watched game was the first one between Kansas City and the Chargers. Nielsen had the average at 13 million while Amazon reported 15.3 million.

NBC will have three games during the first weekend of the postseason, marking the first time a network has had that many on a single playoff weekend.

NBC also has the prime-time Sunday game on Jan. 14, while Fox and CBS will have the earlier contests. ESPN has the Monday night game to close the opening weekend on Jan. 15. This will be the third year the NFL has played the wild-card games over three days.

Under the NFL's contract, each of the four broadcast partners — NBC, CBS, Fox and ESPN/ABC — get at least one wild-card game. Of the two remaining games, one game rotates each year between NBC, CBS and Fox, while the other will likely be up for bid each year. That means Amazon or ESPN+ could eventually be in the running for a future postseason game.

Díaz, Rockies score 11 runs over 2 innings, rally past Reds 11-6

DENVER — Elias Díaz drove in three runs and Kris Bryant, Jurickson Profar and Brenton Doyle each had two RBIs in a two-inning, 11-run outburst that helped the Colorado Rockies erase a five-run deficit and beat the Cincinnati Reds 11-6 on Wednesday.

The Rockies sent 19 batters to the plate and recorded 10 hits while scoring five times in the fifth and six more times in the sixth. Doyle's two-run triple put Colorado ahead to stay in its 11th win in 16 games.

And it all happened without a home run, marking the first time since 2019 that the Rockies have scored 10 or more runs without going deep.

Colorado did most of the damage off Reds starter Graham Ashcraft (2-2), who was charged with seven runs and 10 hits in five-plus innings.

Backup catcher Luke Maile homered and drove in two runs as the Reds built an early lead before collapsing as they finished a 2-4 trip.

A 32-year-old backup with his fifth team in eight seasons, Maile delivered an RBI single in Cincinnati's two-run second. He then led off the fifth by pulling 1-0 fastball 424 feet for his second homer and 15th of his career.

Manager David Bell let Ashcraft start the sixth and he couldn't record an out. Harold Castro doubled and Michael Toglia singled before Bell took him out. Doyle then drilled Lucas Sims' first pitch for a two-run triple.

Wembanyama to follow Robinson, Duncan as Spurs win lottery

BY ANDREW SELIGMAN
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO — Victor Wembanyama is set to follow in the footsteps of David Robinson and Tim Duncan, and the San Antonio Spurs are ready to welcome the French phenom.

It sure seems like an ideal pairing.

The Spurs hit the lottery jackpot on Tuesday, landing the No. 1 pick and the right to draft one of the most highly touted prospects in NBA history.

Not since LeBron James made the jump from St. Vincent-St. Mary High School in his hometown of Akron, Ohio, to the NBA two decades ago has a player come with this much fanfare. At 7-foot-3 and with the ability to shoot like a wing player and pass like a point guard, the 19-year-old Wembanyama is expected to make an immediate impact.

And he had a message for San Antonio.

"I'm trying to win a ring ASAP," Wembanyama told ESPN after the lottery results. "So be ready."

It's the third time the Spurs have won the lottery, and on both previous occasions they made picks that paid off for decades. They chose Robinson in 1987, Duncan in 1997, and those Hall of Fame big men were a major part of how the Spurs became a team that won five NBA titles under coach Gregg Popovich.

"Our future was already bright," Spurs managing partner Peter J. Holt said. "Now, it's going to be through the moon."

General manager Brian Wright called it "an incredible day" for the franchise and the fans.

Charlotte will pick second, Portland moved up to third, and Houston fell to fourth.

"Human nature sets you up to get greedy, so when it was two teams left, yeah, I wanted No. 1, right?" Hornets GM Mitch Kupchak said. "For a second there was a little bit of 'aw shucks' but overall to go from four… to two, it's an incredible stroke of luck."

But to get the No. 1 pick in a year like this?

"People talk about generational talents and you only think on-court skill, but it's bigger than that," Wright said. "Peter talked about his ability to be a great teammate, his ability to think the game, unique challenges. You see him doing things that you wouldn't have even guessed someone could do — his approach, his professionalism. I think when you use the word generational talent, it extends beyond just your ability to put the ball in the basket. And he's unique in so many ways."

The Spurs were 22-60 this season, tied for the second-worst record in the NBA. Popovich and the Spurs have had incredible success with international players in the past — most notably, Manu Ginobili and Tony Parker, who owns the French team that Wembanyama played for last season.

"He's an incredible young man," NBA Commissioner Adam Silver told ESPN as part of its draft lottery broadcast. "He's 19 years old and I didn't take out a yardstick or meter stick or whatever they use in France, but he seemed all of 7-4 to me. … He clearly appears to be a generational talent."

Wembanyama finished his regular season with Boulogne-Levallois of France's top pro league earlier Tuesday, his 22-point effort good enough to clinch the league's scoring title. It was shortly past 2 a.m. Wednesday in Paris when the lottery results were revealed, and Wembanyama was gathered with family and friends for a celebration.

"Can't really describe it," Wembanyama said in his interview with ESPN, adding "it's a really special moment."

Finally, he knows where his NBA journey will begin. His agents did not respond to multiple requests for comment from The Associated Press.

"I think the team that has the first choice isn't going to get it wrong," said Vincent Collet, Wembanyama's coach in France and also the coach of the French national team — which Wembanyama is expected to play for this summer at the World Cup and next summer at the 2024 Paris Olympics.

Detroit had the worst record in the NBA and was one of the three teams with the best odds of winning. The Pistons wound up falling all the way to fifth, the worst of their possible outcomes.

Sato, Dixon top speed chart in 1st Indy 500 practice

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Takuma Sato and Scott Dixon gave Chip Ganassi Racing a big boost in the first Indianapolis 500 practice.

Nobody else could catch the two Indianapolis 500 winners Wednesday.

Dixon, the 2008 champ, needed less than 10 minutes to produce a fast lap of 229.174 mph, which stayed atop the speed chart until Sato, a two-time Indy winner, topped it with a late run of 229.439.

Only Santino Ferrucci, of A.J. Foyt Enterprises, prevented Ganassi from sweeping the top three spots. His speed, 228.977, barely edged 2021 series champion and current points leader Alex Palou (228.720). Ganassi's other driver, defending 500 winner Marcus Ericsson, was seventh.

"It's good to be on the fast side and to see all the Ganassi cars (high on the speed chart)," Sato said before talking about Dixon's run. "That was quite impressive to see, Scott up to speed that quickly because I wasn't up to speed by that time."

It was an incredibly fast start as Dixon embarks on a potentially historic qualifying weekend.

If he captures a sixth career pole, he'll tie Rick Mears' all-time 500 record (six) and become the first driver in race history to earn the top starting spot in three consecutive years. In 2022, Dixon also posted the fastest four-lap qualifying average of any Indy pole winner, 234,046, while his 53 wins and six series titles both rank second all-time to A.J. Foyt (67 wins, seven series titles).

Yet, the 500 has produced some baffling final results for The Iceman.

Since winning his first Indy pole and his only 500 title 15 years ago, Dixon has made 14 starts, won four poles, had six top-five finishes and been the runner-up in 2012 and 2020.

When qualifying is held Saturday and Sunday, his biggest challenge may come from his own teammates.

Palou was third for most of the final hour, four days after winning on Indy's road course for his first victory this season. Speeds are expected to increase starting Friday, when cars will be given a power boost.

"I think when it goes back to the qualifying trim, I think the speeds will be very similar to last year," Sato said when asked to predict what it will take to win the pole.

Who else could contend?

Perhaps Rinus VeeKay, who had the fastest no-tow speed at 223.212, or his teammate driver-owner Ed Carpenter, a three-time Indy pole winner. Carpenter's no-tow speed was 222.341.

Dixon was fourth on the no-tow list at 221.230.

Ferrucci could be in the mix, too. He's the only IndyCar driver to complete every lap and finish in the top 10 in each of the last four 500s.

"We're in full race trim, nose down, pretty stacked on there," he said. "I'm really comfortable."

Scott McLaughlin, Team Penske's fastest driver Wednesday, and Colton Herta, the fastest driver for Andretti Autosport, both topped 228 to finish fifth and sixth in practice.

Wednesday's ideal conditions — light wind and warming temperatures until afternoon clouds helped cool the track — were a welcome change after Tuesday's practice was rained out.
